Instructions for Videographer for Web Deposition:

When a document is being shared on the screen as an exhibit, the videographer must have a split screen with a pinned video of the deponent and the exhibit.

Rules for Web Deposition:

1. During the deposition the witness shall not communicate (orally, by chat room, email, text, etc.) with any person other than the attorney asking the questions;
2. All persons in the room with the witness during the deposition must have Zoom video capabilities and must have the video camera directed toward them at all times during the deposition proceedings;
3. The witness shall neither read nor respond to any communication made to the witness from inside or outside the deposition location during the deposition except as to documents presented by the questioning attorney during the deposition;
4. There is to be no communication – verbal or non-verbal – during the deposition by anyone other than the questioning attorney (or the attorney presenting the witness for an instruction not to answer a question regarding a privileged matter);
5. No attorney or other person present in the room or outside of the room where the witness is presented is to use any communication intended to coach the witness;

6. The witness shall not use any device (cell phone, laptops, etc.) during the deposition other than the computer used for Zoom access unless specifically requested by the questioning attorney during the normal course of the proceedings;
7. There shall be no private chats during the deposition (the court reporter or other administrator of the proceedings shall make certain the chat function of the Zoom feature is disabled); and
8. “Zoom” includes the Zoom application or any similar software application intended to allow deposition proceedings to proceed electronically whether by audio, video, or both.

To the extent not previously produced, the deponent shall produce any document reviewed by the deponent, seven (7) days prior to the commencement of the deposition, to prepare for the deposition and/or to refresh the deponent’s recollection regarding the facts of the case.

Date: February 19, 2021

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Eric Abraham
